

Crown Aviation Holdings Inc.
(the “Company”)

Cookies Policy
(adopted as of May 30, 2024)

This Cookies Policy (the “Policy”) has been adopted by the Board of Directors (the “Board”) of the Company. Where “Cookies” are small text files that store information about your interactions with a website, either temporarily or more permanently on the hard drive of your device, Cookies may, from time to time, be used on www.crownaviation.ca (the “Website”).

The Website uses Cookies to distinguish you from other users of this Website, which helps us to provide you with a good experience when you browse the Website and allows us to improve the Website. Among other Cookies which we may later use, the following is a list of commonly used Cookies:

- Strictly Necessary Cookies.

Strictly Necessary Cookies are Cookies that are required for the operation of the Website. They are stored within your browser and include, for example, Cookies that enable you to log into secure areas of the Website. Disabling these Cookies using your browser settings (see below) may adversely impact the Website’s performance and may lead to certain features being unavailable. Strictly Necessary Cookies do not store personal data.

- Performance Cookies.

Performance Cookies are Cookies we use to collect statistical information about Website use to improve the Website and our services. For these purposes, Performance Cookies collect certain information about your device type, operating system type, browser type, domain, other system settings, IP address, referring URLs, information on actions you take on the Website and the dates and times of your visits, as well as the country and time zone in which your device is located among other similar types and kinds of information. Performance Cookies are provided by third parties and as such the information obtained through Performance Cookies will be disclosed to, or collected by, those third parties. We do not have control over Performance Cookies. Performance Cookies are governed by each respective third party’s policies, as applicable.

- Functional Cookies.

Functional Cookies enable the Website to provide enhanced functionality. Functional Cookies may be set by us or by third party providers whose services we have added to the Website. You can set your browser to block or alert you about Functional Cookies, but some parts of the Website may not work as intended or at all as a result of restricting and/or preventing Functional Cookies.

- Third Party Targeting Cookies.

Third parties (including, for example, our affiliates, advertising networks, social networks, and providers of external services like web traffic analysis services) may also use cookies over which we have no control. Third Party Targeting Cookies are governed by each respective third party's policies, as applicable. Information obtained through Third Party Cookies will be disclosed to or collected directly by third parties.

You may be asked to indicate your consent and acceptance or non-acceptance of the performance of Cookies in the banner that appears at the bottom of your browser when you first visit the Website.

When you first visit the Website, unless you have blocked Cookies using your browser settings (see below), all the Strictly Necessary Cookies will automatically be placed on your devices, and we will be able to use personal data gathered by such Strictly Necessary Cookies for the purposes set out herein and in compliance with applicable privacy laws and regulations.

Performance Cookies, Functional Cookies, and Third Party Targeting Cookies will not share personal data with us or a third party cookie provider (and will not be placed on your device) unless and until you consent to our use of such Cookies.

You can block all Cookies by activating the setting on your browser that allows you to refuse the setting of all or some Cookies. Users may allow, block, or remove Cookies (other than Strictly Necessary Cookies) installed on their computer or device by changing the configuration of the browser.
